Our commitment to rooting out, identifying and stopping Modern Slavery
What is modern slavery?

Modern slavery is the severe exploitation of other people for personal or commercial gain. Modern slavery is all around us, but often just out of sight. – right now, millions of children and adults are trapped in slavery in every single country in the world. Including yours (antislavery.org)
What might Modern Slavery Look like?

Modern Slavery may look like a normal job. People can become trapped making clothes, cleaning houses, building houses, serving food, working in factories, working as nannies or cooks, wherever there is work, there is the potential of modern slavery.

40 million people are estimated to be trapped in modern slavery worldwide:
• 1 in 4 of them are children.
• Almost three quarters (71%) are women and girls.
• Over 10,000 were identified as potential victims by the authorities in the UK in 2019.

Where might you encounter modern slavery?
In a word - Anywhere.
Hello World’s work with marginalised communities will put us in direct contact with people who are or have been victims of modern slavery, human trafficking, kidnapping and other crimes. It also potentially puts us in contact with perpetrators too.

Because of this we demand full cooperation from suppliers, partners, donors, employees, volunteers and communities.
Our Commitments
In Partnership with independent experts FSI.

We work with our communities through
Training, Communicating, Engaging

Whistleblowing
Hello World’s Whistleblowing policy is included in our staff handbook and is available on our website.
Our Commitments

Training and information part 1
Information and material produced and curated by FSI Worldwide on modern slavery will be available on Hello World tablets at the hubs.
Our Commitments

Training and Information part 2

Vocational style training provided at the hubs, using our Train the Trainer model.
Our Commitments

Ongoing, two way communication

We establish communication with our hubs through a network of community support officers, WhatsApp groups. FSI will help us distribute context specific and up to date information to our communities as well as listen to, and act upon any concerns they have.
Our Commitments

Engaging
We will use our platform to warn and protect hub users. Celebrating their freedom as we hand over the hub to them. By addressing modern slavery directly, in an engaging way we seek to disrupt harmful social norms and discourage silence.
